Irving Replication Women, an Irving-based club and member of the National Federation of Republican Women (NFRW), is honored to present the Literacy Library Project to Townsell Elementary School.

Established by the NFRW over 60 years ago, the Literacy Library Project is a program that seeks to foster beliefs of self-reliance, freedom and independence through the donation of subject related books and videos to libraries, schools, and other institutions. Our Irving chapter has undertaken to sponsor the Literacy Library Project in several Irving schools through the donation of approved books for young student readers.

Written for children between ages 7 and 12 (grades two through six), our books include titles from the series "Heroes of Liberty" which tell the stories of persons who promoted freedom or family values, or who lived a virtuous life of self reliance and creativity. Their stories encourage students to learn by example from their accomplishments.

The "Story of" books include such titles as "The Story of Martin Luther King" and "Black Women in Science." These books portray the lives of inspirational people and introduce young students to valuable life lessons.

Each book includes a bookplate on the inside back cover to recognize the donation from the Irving Republican Women.

We hope you will enjoy the books.
